

Customer Note/ Team Insights

- The stakeholders like our design of home page, the way we are dividing the data, horizontally and vertically by making proper use of rows and columns and making the home page looks meaningful to the users.
- They like our understanding and marking of current RCE website and some major issues that we pointed to the current version, ie no password field while creating the account and not receiving the email link for resetting the password.
- They like our idea of distributing the data on different events, publications and community pages, rather than just putting everything on the same page.
- They personally like the idea of the events that we put up further, they like the idea of encouraging the users to join events and to be part of the up-coming events.
- They like the idea of putting all resources and study materials on the proper manner under publications and resources category, so that user can access the data very easily.
- They like the idea of making the website of RCE Sask, identical or in a way similar to global RCE website, so that users can find it easy to access the website, as it will be having a mist of similarity globally.

Some friendly suggestions that we want to integrate in our design

- More focus should be made on making the design mobile-friendly/platform-independent since it meant much to the stakeholders.
- There should be a feature of event recommendation to the users.
- Like of the user has attended any previous meetings or conferences, they will automatically get the recommendation email regarding the upcoming events.
- Add some updates about upcoming events on the home page, just to make it more attractive and interactive for users.
- To add separate page for donation, and not putting it together with the logging page.
- To add the interactive feature of blogging for the users, to share their views and thoughts.
